❧ PREFACE. ❧

The series of Views contained in this Catalogue, are selections from some thousands of negatives made during a course of twenty years' field work. In that length of time we have accumulated an immense stock of negatives, embracing every accessible point of interest on the Pacific Coast and adjacent territory, in the Hawaiian Islands, Mexico and British Columbia. As it would be impracticable to Catalogue our collection in its entirety, we have endeavored by comparison and careful selection to reduce our stock, and place in our Catalogue only such views as will illustrate the subjects from their most artistic point of view, and contain the best technical qualities, photographically. While this plan, to a certain degree, limits the number of views to select from, it is on the other hand an advantage to the purchaser, as every view ordered may be counted upon as being the very best possible to be made.

Aside from our catalogued series, we have numbers of negatives of special subjects, such as mines, places of historical interest, famous horses, interiors of well-known private residences, etc., etc., in fact negatives of nearly everything possible to photograph. We will be pleased to furnish detailed description of such views to anyone desiring it.

By a system of exchange with foreign artists, we have also a limited stock of views from Europe, China and Japan, not many in number, but most excellent in artistic and technical quality. A further description of this series will be found under the head of "Miscellaneous."

From time to time will be added, in the shape of an appendix, such views as are constantly being made by us in different parts of the country. Prominent among the additions will be a complete series of Alaskan views, the shortness of the summer season necessitating repeated trips before the series can be called full and complete. Those we already have are described and classed under the "Miscellaneous" heading.

We solicit correspondence regarding views of all subjects, whether catalogued or not.

MONTEREY BAY and HOTEL DEL MONTE. This is the most popular and fashionable Summer and Winter sea-side resort; an almost equal climate all the year round, white sand beach for surf-bathing, driving, etc.; a beautiful bay for boating and fishing (whaling occasionally), many fine drives in vicinity. The Hotel del Monte is palatial in its appointments and surroundings.

The CARMEL MISSION, founded 1770, four miles south. The old town of Monterey contains some interesting relics of early days; it was the capital of California under the Mexican and Jesuit Fathers' dominion. Near the town is the site of Fremont's Fort, where the United States flag was hoisted on the 7th of July, 1846, when California joined the Union.

MISSIONS OF CALIFORNIA. Among the many interesting "Souvenirs of Travel," a collection of the old Missions of California would be among the most desirable, inasmuch as they carry one into the mighty realms of the dreamy past, when California was the great Sleepy Hollow of the West and but little known to the outside world. They, moreover, become suggestive and illustrative of the various eras through which California had passed before the electrifying discovery of the precious metals began to rapidly people this land of the setting sun. "I do love these ancient ruins; we never tread upon them but we set our foot upon some reverend history."—John Webster, Duchess of Malfi.

TRIPS SOUTHWARD FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

YOSEMITE VALLEY AND SURROUNDINGS—The most majestic scenery in the world, and the most interesting in its varied marvels of water-falls and cliffs, mountain peaks and domes, meadows, lakes and streams. The Yosemite valley or gorge, is about five miles long by one-half to one and one-half miles wide, 4,000 feet above sea level, enclosed by nearly vertical walls of granite, averaging 4,000 feet in height above the valley. Its general course is N. E. and S. W. The main Merced River runs through it.
